

REMADE is the environmental certification on the content of recycled materials and by-products in a material or product.

WHAT IS REMADE

REMADE is a product certification, under ACCREDIA accreditation, which attests to the recycled content in a product. Valid for any sector, for any material and even for multi-component products. It is based on a traceability scheme, to offer the maximum guarantee to the final consumer (public or private) on the share of product that derives from the recovery of material.

ADVANTAGES OF REMADE CERTIFICATION

The certification is recognized and appreciated by the market, which is increasingly oriented towards the purchase of products with recycled content and "circular". It is expressly recognized in the MEC (Minimum Environmental Criteria) for GPP public procurement and is fundamental for access to incentives and tax relief.

HOW TO OBTAIN CERTIFICATION

The certification is issued only by accredited Certification Bodies. Companies to obtain it must apply the rules contained in the Regulations REMADE Technical Standards. To receive a quote, without any obligation, please fill in the appropriate form or write to info@remade.it.

THE REMADE ORGANIZATION

The certification scheme is owned by the REMADE Organization, established in 2009, non-profit, independent and legally recognized, a sharing center made up of some public institutions and in which companies producing "circular" materials and goods participate.

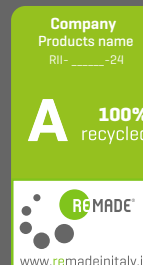

VALIDITY AND RECOGNITION

The certification operates under the recognition of ACCREDIA, to guarantee independence and transparency and is expressly recognized in the MEC (Minimum Environmental Criteria) and useful during public tenders. REMADE is also valid outside Italy.

THE REMADE LABEL

The label is a promotional tool for companies. It reports the share of recovered material and the environmental benefits linked to not consuming non-renewable resources: CO₂ and energy savings.
